Asile the contract at the auxil hour; the journal of yesterday was read, the court of the special for the court to adjournment the special for the court to adjournment for the court of the special for the court to adjournment for the special for the court for the special for the some contaminating foreign slime up our rivers. The fact is, a more preposterofs convention never came to gether, and it required all the energy and common sense which a few could bring to bear to prevent it from enacting one of the broadest farces ever exhibited to a people. And, indeed, as it is, their proceedings will excite the risibles of every sensible man in the country.—To-morrow they adopt an address, and will read it to a mass meeting of their party to be assembled in Independence Square. They call it a second Declaration of independence, "heaven save the mark "out of compliment to Lewis C. Levin, its author, who has taken many opportunities to show that the past declaration, written by en old friend of foreigners, named Thomas Jefferson, was a humbug, and tetally inapplicate to this country and its institutions. Levin has charitably set to work to supply the deficiency, and the Natives will put it forth to-morrow.

The Shiffler Club of New York, and the Eagle Club of Boston, lett our city for home yesterday. They were the occasion of a vast deal of noise and shouting, but I think their lungs must be considerably improved before their shouts will avail in carrying their measures. It is a doomed party, and that it is doomed argues well for the justice and correctness of the sober second thoughts of the people.

Our people continue to leave the city for the season, and we are growing duller every day. Last year we were enlivened by a rebellion, but this year we were enlivened by a rebellion, but this year we were enlivened by a rebellion, but this year we were enlivened by a rebellion, but this year we were enlivened by a rebellion, but this year we were enlivened by a rebellion, but this year we were enlivened by a rebellion, but this year we were enlivened by a rebellion, but this year we were enlivened by a rebellion, but this year we were enlivened by a rebellion their shouts of fun to enliven the dullness of our summer season, and produce some very pleasing pieces. The Ethiopians are on hand, and a some contaminating foreign slime up our rivers. The "Block-Game"—List of the Dead and Missing—Their Politics—Their Characters—Reflections—Tremendous Gathering of the Unterrified Democracy.

The affairs in our Custom House, are the all-engrossing topic of conversation and speculation in Boston, at present. Never has there been a prospect for so much fun, with so slight show of a knowledge of the philose, pby of politics and political calculation, as has latterly been, and is now being exhibited in this good city of notions. Most of the "ins" are trembling and fidgetting—the "outs" are threatening and swearing—and the extions. Most of the "ins" are trembling and fidgetting—the "outs" are threatening and swearing—and the expectants are living as best they may, on tick and hope deferred! A large batch of removals and appointments were forwarded to Washington by Collector Morton, some ten days since, and it is understood that the names have come "bock agin"—but a portion only of them have been returned, confirmed by Secretary Walker the opinion being that the list is "altogether too indiscriminate."
Notice, that "the government can dispense with their Notice, that "the government can dispense with their services, on the 14th instant," has been tendered to some baker's dozen or more, however—and another score are anxiously on the qui vice in regard to their fate, the blow being expected hourly. For the information of those in-

The Crops.

We begin to despair of the wheat crops, says the St. Louis Republican of the 27th ultimo. It has ramed, more or less, for the last fifteen days, and as yet there is no prospect of settled clear weather. The crop of wheat which, until the commencement of the rain, promised an abundant yield, is greatly injured, and must soon be wholly destroyed, unless a change in the weather takes place. That which was cut just before the rain is, of course, lost. This will be a sad blow to our farmers, and must sensibly affect all other branches of bussness and trade.

Lis now used in his practice among the nobility of England and through the Continent of Europe, and in every instance, when used according to directious, has produced the most happy results. It is exclusively directed to the cure of such complaints as arise from a disorganization of the generative organs. Its quick and wooderful action is such that coldness or imbeclifty cannot remain in the system that is under its influence for half an hour. It will afford decided relief to those who by early indulgence m softiary habits have fallen into a state of chronic debility.

Constitutional weakness, brought on by a secret habit indulged in by young men. This is, when too frequently indulged in the greatest evil that can befull man. Dyspenja, weakness of the limbs and small of the back, confusion of intellect, forgetfulness, apliptation of the heart, aversion to Society, consumption, emacation, are the symptoms of this disease Gleets, whites, obstruction of certain evacuations, total impotency and barrenness, are removed by this medicine.
